

Ashley Gould
ashleysf4@gmail.com

My husband, Carlos Privat, and I purchased a wonderful home on Lookout Lane in May of this year. A silver lining of the COVID-19 pandemic has been spending a great deal of time in Promontory with our two boys, Mateo (14) and Alex (12). We have loved being in Promontory and Park City so much that we have decided to move our family from San Francisco, California to Promontory full-time, with our boys starting a new school in Sandy November 30th.

Carlos and I are also in contract on several lots in Pinnacle and are excited to build our dream home over the next several years.

I am a lawyer by training having graduated with an undergraduate degree in Political Economy of Natural Resources from the University of California at Berkeley and a law degree from the University of San Francisco School of Law. I began my legal practice in the Silicon Valley at the law firm Wilson, Sonsini, Goodrich & Rosati, PC. My areas of practice included supporting companies, their boards and executive teams through venture capital and debt financing, IPOs (initial public offerings), mergers and acquisitions and public company securities act work. After my father was diagnosed with myelofibrosis, a rare cancer, I moved in-house into the life sciences industry, and have also worked in technology and medical device companies, having served in roles managing legal, human resources, laboratory operations, regulatory affairs, government affairs, communications, compliance and corporate responsibility. I am a Founding Limited Partner of How Women Invest, an early stage venture firm seeking to realize untapped economic potential by focusing on the intersection of female founders and female investors. I am also serving as an advisor to the CEO of Arborea, Ltd., a start-up company whose mission is to accelerate the global transition to sustainable food through its proprietary “BioSolar Leaf” cultivation system which grows microscopic plants to produce healthy food ingredients while also generating breathable oxygen.

I have worked extensively with boards of directors addressing strategy, business, regulatory, compliance, legal and corporate responsibility issues. I have also served on several not-for-profit boards, including Huckleberry Youth Programs, a not-for-profit based in San Francisco serving youth in San Francisco and Marin County in California, and Alta Vista School, a San Francisco independent school.

I have the time and interest to devote to the conservancy board position and believe I would add value to the board.